TASIKOKI WILDLIFE RESCUE CENTRE

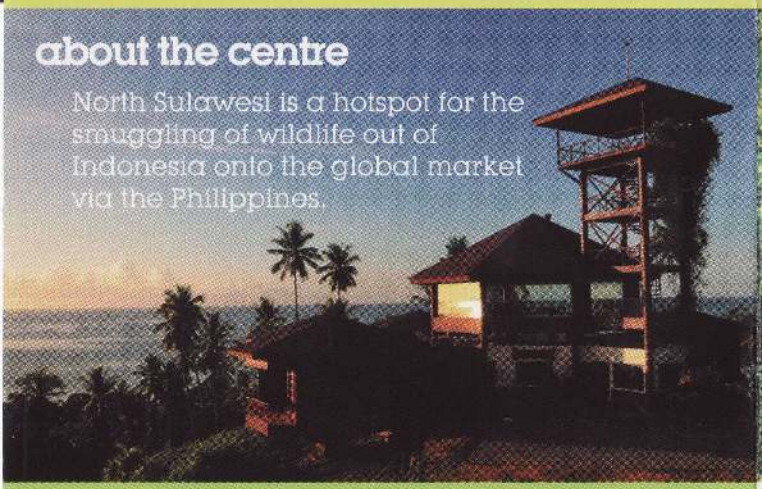
about the centre

North Sulawesi is a hotspot for the smuggling of wildlife out of Indonesia onto the global market via the Philippines.



Animals from all over the vast Indonesian archipelago have suffered this trade route. Tasikoki is in a strategic location to help the authorities tackle this crime and take care of the wildlife confiscated from this illegal trade.

Tasikoki is not a zoo.
The rescue centre employs a team of dedicated local staff, who care for the animals physical and mental rehabilitation as they undergo quarantine and their preparation for release.

volunteer for us

Help provide essential assistance to the work of the centre, improve the animal welfare and contribute to much needed funds to sustain the project.

ecolodge

There are two VIP suites available for guests that wish to stay a few nights in a unique room overhanging an animal sanctuary with a beautiful view out to sea.

the animals

There are hundreds of different animal species at Tasikoki from all over Indonesia. This includes sun bears, gibbons, orangutans, deer and the javan leopard to name a few.

As the animals at Tasikoki are wild you will not be able to get into too close a proximity with them.

the education centre

Come and visit our Wildlife Education Centre, where you will receive an extensive overview of the project's goals and learn the full story of each animal.

The aim is to spread local awareness so that future generations will be aware of the conservational issues being faced today in Indonesia.

help us

We are a Non Profit organisation. We do not charge an entrance fee, but we would ask that day visitors leave a donation. The money will go directly to the animals to cover the cost of their care and food.
