

The Lembeh Fish & Critter Hunt 2012, with Ned & Anna DeLoach

This is the second year that our friends Ned and Anna will be offering their brilliantly educational and entertaining workshops at Eco Divers Resort Lembeh

<http://www.manadosafaris.com/operators/eco-divers-lembeh.php>.

Taking part is absolutely free as Ned and Anna offer the workshops purely out of their desire to share their love of the underwater world with as many other people as possible.

They are co-authors of the best-selling series of marine identification field guides including Reef Fish Identification - Tropical Pacific and Reef Creature Identification - Tropical Pacific, and the marine life column Encounters in Alert Diver magazine, and Critter Hunt in Scuba Diving.

Come and grab a rare opportunity to spend time in the company of this hugely knowledgeable and exceptionally generous and warm couple, whilst enjoying the wonders of the Lembeh Strait. A dive holiday really doesn't get any better than this. During the days there will be underwater fish and critter hunts for the area's most celebrated species, whilst informal lectures will take place every evening after dinner.

Here's what you can expect...

Underwater Photo/Video Workshop:

- How to capture winning marine wildlife portraits
- Tips on getting close to elusive subjects
- Framing your subject
- Waiting for the right moment

Special Nightly Presentations include:

- Cephalopod behavior: The outrageous antics of octopus, cuttlefish and squid
- Symbiosis and Camouflage: Hiding in plain sight
- The diverse reproductive behavior of reef fishes

We guarantee that after spending an energizing week of fun and learning with a group of like-minded friends, diving will never be the same!
